This project consisted of a four physician primary care medical clinic addition onto an existing facility that was converted from a community hospital into a community health center.

The addition provided a new common entry and elevator lobby to serve the existing split level entry facility. In addition to the primary care clinic function, the new space also housed a variety of rotating health specialists.

Physical therapy, eye-care, blood laboratory services and procedure room spaces were also incorporated into the addition design. Lower level functions included medical transcription, record storage, staff break room and general storage.
